Form Tutor's Comment

Rym is a kind and quiet member of the group. She is polite to both her teachers and peers. She arrives to school on-time and wearing the correct uniform. Rym embodies the Sherborne values of teamwork, honesty, kindness and respect. She takes responsibility for her learning by working with teachers to ensure she achieves her academic targets. To prepare for next year, she may benefit from exploring IGCSE content on educational websites such as BBC Bitesize.

Head of Section/ Head of Year Comment

Rym has settled in well to the school and I am pleased to see that she has made some secure friendships. I was delighted that Rym won an academic award this year for her efforts in Islamic Studies. Moving into Key Stage 4, Rym may wish to consider engaging in a range of extracurricular activities to develop her skills outside of the classroom. I wish the best of luck for her future.

Rym is a lovely girl who has settled in well after joining us late in the year. She tries hard and shows a thorough understanding of the coursework theme, consistently producing well-executed artwork. Her final lino prints demonstrate good knowledge of artistic techniques, resulting in visually appealing and informative pieces. She produced a detailed pencil study of Big Ben, showing a developing grasp of scale and tonal shading. Additionally, she adapted her pencil sketch of the building into Hundertwasser's style, demonstrating a good understanding of the artist's style by incorporating his shapes and bold colours. Her exam layout was exciting, with good attention to detail and a range of tonal shading. However, she needs to develop her analysis work more.

Targets for Development

Focus on developing analysis work to provide deeper insights into your artistic process.
Continue enhancing her use of tonal shading to add more depth and dimension to her drawings.

Comment

Rym has demonstrated a firm understanding of the material covered this term. Her work reflects consistent effort and engagement in class discussions and activities, showing improvement in her writing skills and ability to analyse texts. Rym works well with other members of her class, demonstrating strong collaborative skills and setting an example for other students to follow. She is developing an excellent understanding of language devices and can use them effectively in her own writing. She sets an excellent example for other students to follow, and it has been a pleasure to teach her this year.

Targets for Development

Moving forward into Year 10, Rym should focus on further expanding her vocabulary and refining her grammar to enhance her overall writing fluency.

Rym is an outstanding pupil. Her progress has been remarkable and she is now working towards a grade 7. In her recent examination, she displayed a strong understanding of global warming and deforestation. To progress further, Rym should review plate tectonics as this was an area where she lost marks. Her behaviour and attitude towards her learning is fantastic. She aims to complete all work to a high standard and actively responds to feedback. She is polite to both her peers and the class teacher. She is an active member during class discussions, demonstrating an in-depth understanding of geographic concepts. To prepare for next year, she may benefit from exploring IGCSE content on educational websites such as BBC Bitesize. She is an exemplary pupil. Well done, Rym.

Targets for Development

Using the resources on Teams, review the topics relating to tectonic hazards and plate tectonics.

Comment

Rym has been a joy to teach this year as she is polite, kindhearted and hardworking. She works well with others and often goes above and beyond in her historical studies. Rym's work is always completed to a high standard and she often participates in class discussions. In the final assessment, Rym's strength was her knowledge and understanding of historical information such as trench warfare. Whilst her strong knowledge gained her many marks, she unfortunately lost marks in the source section as she struggled to infer information from given sources. Moving forward, she should revisit how to infer information from a given source and the Schlieffen plan.

Targets for Development

Rym should revisit how to infer information from a source.

Comment

Rym shows an outstanding level of effort in all lessons. She completes all tasks she is given and challenges herself at every opportunity. Rym demonstrates confidence in Maths by participating in class and regularly makes positive contributions to lessons. Rym ensures she completes all tasks to the best of her ability and always presents her work clearly. Rym understands key Maths topics well and can apply her knowledge to be able to complete challenging problem-solving questions. Rym should be very proud of her achievements this year. Well done, Rym.

Targets for Development

Rym should begin familiarising herself with IGCSE past papers, focusing on solving questions on topics covered in Key Stage 3. Key topics to practice are equations, quadratics and trigonometry.

Comment

Rym is a positive pupil who usually enjoys PE lessons. There are times when she is less motivated to actively participate and requires some encouragement to get on task, however she is typically able to find an activity to pique her interest. Just Dance is a regular choice and one where she shows confidence and enjoys the social aspect of engaging with her peers. Rym has demonstrated good basic fundamental skills and would benefit from participating in more team games to help develop her strategic and positional awareness.

Targets for Development

To broaden the type of activity she takes part in to further develop her overall skill set.

Comment

Rym is a pleasant and hard-working pupil. She consistently demonstrates excellent focus and determination in completing tasks. Rym has shown growth in confidence and collaborates effectively with her peers. She is proactive in seeking help when needed and responds positively to teacher feedback. Rym takes pride in her work, this is evident in the presentation of her work. She has a strong work ethic and a desire to do well which has led to excellent academic progress this year. Her ability to answer examination questions effectively and her understanding of topics reflects her independent revision efforts at home, however she must now start to increase the time spent revising independently and improve her examination technique by completing examination questions.

Targets for Development

Rym should recap over ionic bonding and compounds and eukaryotic and prokaryotic cells. To complete examination questions to improve examination technique.

Comment

Rym was new to Spanish this year but has worked exceptionally hard to catch up. Her attitude to learning and effort is commendable. Her confidence has grown throughout the year and work is completed to a good standard. It has been a pleasure being Rym's teacher and I wish her all the best in her iGCSEs and in the future.

Targets for Development

Should Rym wish to continue with Spanish in the future she should spend 10 - 15 mins a day recapping vocabulary and grammatical structures.
